FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

We are happy to announce a new recording by Barabara Roy, former Ecstasy Passion & Pain lead singer. “Give Me Your Heart,” penned by Melvin and Mervin Steals (Could It Be I’m Falling In Love), was co-produced by Harry Henderson and Ron Foster for JSR Productions. The single is available now via digital downloads on Itunes, Amazon and various other digital stores.

Jay St. executive producer Henderson mentioned that “we called Barbara for this project at the right time, as she has been writing and working on new material. We had this dance track and needed a lead vocal, when Foster mentioned that Barbara would be perfect.” Foster, who played keyboards in the 1970s EPP group with Barbara, put in the call and she was soon on her way from her Maryland home to New Jersey for the session. The result is Barbara being Barbara – gutsy, soulful and delightful.

We are proud to present her latest single.
